Healthcare-NOW is a grassroots organization that addresses the health insurance crisis in the U.S. by educating and advocating for the passage of single-payer health-care legislation, such as HR 676. We support building the movement necessary to implement a publicly-funded, single-payer healthcare system that is universal, equitable, transparent, accountable, comprehensive, and that removes financial and other barriers to the right to healthcare. Join us!

Thanks and Solidarity!

The conference organizers owe a special thanks to the incredible work of our volunteers who helped find a hotel and venue for the conference, do outreach in Nevada, pull together the conference wiki, help livestream the event, and more. Thank you Danielle Cork, Kristofer DiPaolo, Eileen Eady, Keenan Korth, Tisia Stemp, and Amy Vilela. Thank you also to Michael Lighty and Donna Smith for helping reach out to many of the speakers and activists featured as plenary speakers.

Finally, we want to thank the following individuals who made contributions above and beyond their registration fees to support conference scholarships, allowing us to accept everyone who applied, regardless of ability to pay: James Burdick, Judith Deutsch, Pamella Gronemeyer, Beth Landry, Christopher Lowe, Rose Ann Rabiola Miele, John (Greg) Miller, Jen Nye, Lisa Patrick-Mudd, Christine Rollet, and Paul Song.

Railroad Workers United (RWU) is proud to support Healthcare-NOW! and the movement for universal healthcare!

» UPLOAD MATERIALS TO THE CONFERENCE WIKI

We're hoping to get everyone's help in documenting the leadership meeting for future use in organizing and strategizing, and for those who are following along at home.

What we'll need:

- Participant notes for every workshop and plenary;
- slideshows and resources from speakers;
- pictures for later use in emails, social media, etc.;
- video of key panels and plenaries
